LOCAL BREVITIES.

Wednesday's Daily

Yesterday an unusually large number of wool teams arrived from the interior. A carload of cattle belonging to Chas. Royse, of Heppner, passed through the city yesterday en route to the Union Stock Yards at Troutdale.

Yesterday a carload of prunes were shipped to Chicago by the Stadelman Commission Co. This is about the first carload of this kind of fruit shipped out this season.

Last night six new members were initiated into the Redmen's lodge, or to use their terms, six palefaces were scalped, corn and venison served and an enjoyable time had by all present.

Yesterday E. M. Wingate who, for several months has been filling the position of local man on the Mountaineer, laid aside his pencil to take a summer vacation. He has proven himself the right man in the position, and the Mountaineer will certainly miss him.

Fred Waud, son of Captain Waud, formerly the skipper of the Regulator, returned a few days ago from the Sticken river. He states that all the boats but three on that river are tied up and is of the opinion that the steamship companies are losing money.

A drunkard named "Tennessee Bill" tore his clothes to shreds in the Pendleton jail so that he would not have to go into court to answer the charge against him. Recorder Hailey, to be accommodating, held court in the jail, and sent the naked man up for ten days.

The night force of the CHRONICLE office is under obligations to Rey. O. D. Taylor for a box of splendid peach puffs with which he presented the office last night. Like all of Oregon's fruit, they are finely flavored, large and juicy, and are just what a tired printer does on toward the weary hours of the morning.

What promises to be a big water suit was begun at North Yakima last week, when David Longmire filed a complaint in the superior court asking an injunction against settlers above him on the creek, restraining them from diverting the waters of the Wenas creek, on the ground that he is a prior appropriator. Ten attorneys have already been hired by the litigants.

E. E. Lytle, president of the Columbia Southern Railway Company, filed in the land office here yesterday a map showing the route of the proposed extension of that road from Wasco to Moro in Sherman county. The length of the new portion will be seventeen miles. Mr. Lytle states that trains will be running from Biggs to Moro by the first of October.

Sunday evening the steamer Dalles City was gotten into the water and towed to the Pacific Iron Works, where her boilers and other machinery is being put in, and all necessary repairs made to put the boat in splendid shape. When the Dalles City, Inland Flyer and Regulator are running on the route between this place and Portland, the D. P. & A. N. Co. will have the finest line of river boats in the Northwest.

Voluntary Observer S. L. Brooks, of this city, has sent to Observer Pague, in Portland, specimens of wheat taken from David Creighton's farm, three miles south of this place, one from a field that will yield 20 to 25 bushels to the acre, and the other from a field estimated to go 30 to 35 bushels to the acre. He adds: "I noticed all the grain is beyond prospective damage from all directions. You can put Wasco county down for 800,000 to 1,000,000 bushels of wheat this year."

Owing to a change of orders, the officers who were expected to be in the city to examine the boys and form a regular O. N. G. company, did not come. It appears that our boys and the Pendleton company wanted more time so as to be sure that there would be a sufficient number of applicants to make a complete company of fifty-six men. The list is still open for applicants, and in a short time the examination will be no further opportunity to join; so that anyone desiring to become a member should make application immediately.

Sixteen cars of salmon, valued at $50,000, left over the Astoria & Columbia River railroad for the East Monday. From this, the most valuable shipment yet to leave Astoria by rail, banners streamed, bearing the names of the different canneries from which the salmon came. Ten carloads were shipped by the Union Fishermen's Co-operative Packing Company, and the other six cars by different packing houses at Astoria. The co-operative company's consignment is billed for Liverpool.

The recent rains were of no injury to the hay crop, but were of great benefit to the spring grain and to the vegetable crop. The rain in connection with the fall in temperature, materially assisted uncut grain to fill. There are some intimations that the hot weather was injurious to the grain crop; if such is the case, the benefits accruing from the cooler weather will more than offset the injuries. The hay crop is large; the grain crop was never better, while fruit and stock are in a thoroughly satisfactory condition.

We learn from a Manila special that the officers of the Oregon troops have abused their leave of absence and have been jailed and court-martialed. The name of Captain Wells and First Lieutenant Geo. Telfer, of Co. L, are among the rest, they being two of the officers in the company in which the Dalles boys are. The other officers under surveillance are H. L. Heath, of McMinnville, captain of Co. A, and A. F. Prescott, of La Grande, captain of Co. D. It appears they had a leave of absence to visit the rebels, which they abused by not returning at the time stated.

Thursday's Daily.

Yesterday a car load of beef cattle were shipped to the Union Meat Company by C. M. Grimes.

The residence of C. J. Smith, of Pendleton, was burglarized on Sunday night. The burglars got about $40 in cash.

On Tuesday two marriage licenses were issued by County Clerk Kelsay, one to James C. Taylor and Bertha C. Copple, another to G. W. Fisher and Lillian B. Copple. We dare say this means a double wedding.

The normal institute for Klickitat county was opened Monday in the public school building at Goldendale. Forty teachers are in attendance and the session will continue into August. Prof. Charles Timblin has been selected as chief instructor. State Superintendent Browne is expected to be present. This is the first normal institute in the history of Klickitat county.

The Columbia Southern railway began carrying the mails Monday morning. This gives Wasco twelve mails a week. Stage connections from this place will give the interior towns a mail service several hours earlier than formerly.

In the list of those who took the white veil as a sister of the Sacred Heart in St. Mary's Academy in Portland last Saturday we note the name of Miss Margaret Brogan, of Antelope. Her name in the order will be Sister Mary Botildis.

June H. Dix, the first deputy sheriff in the Black Hills, S. D., is in Umatilla county, and will remain during harvest. Mr. Dix was one of the trail blazers to the Black Hills, and was in Deadwood at the time of the murder of "Wild Bill." During his official life as deputy sheriff he assisted in the capture of a number of the hardest characters that ever graced the inside of a penitentiary.

So far this week as well as last the run of salmon in the Columbia river near this place has been very light—so light, in fact, that the canneries can only run a few hours each day, in spite of the fact that the proprietors are making every effort to secure fish.

Yesterday J. L. Kelly and William Floyd delivered 300 head of cattle of different ages to J. E. Reynolds, of Omaha, Nebraska. The cattle were loaded on the cars yesterday morning and started east. Several cars will be added at Arlington which will complete the trainload.

Yesterday the desks, blackboards and other furniture for the new school building arrived at the freight depot in this city. It will be left in the depot until the building is in a shape to receive it. When the furniture is in place The Dalles will be able to look with pride at as fine a school building as can be found in the state.

We understand that Mr. Kretzer, the professional well-driller, has begun operations on the Kelsay place and is slowly sinking a prospect hole into the bowels of earth in search of coal. Everything that can be learned concerning the situation would lead one to believe that there is coal in this vicinity, and we hope that the labor and perseverance of the gentlemen who are promoting the venture will be rewarded with rich finds.

We read in yesterday's Oregonian that the grand lodge of the Degree of Honor, Ancient Order United Workmen, convened in the A. O. U. W. temple in Portland Tuesday morning, with Grand Chief of Honor Mrs. M. W. Briggs, of The Dalles, in the chair. The Oregonian contains a splendid picture of Mrs. Briggs and speaks of her in the manner that she well merits on account of her earnest work in the order as well as of her ability to fill the position she holds.

Yesterday John Russell, of Kingsley, was in the city. Mr. Russell is certainly one of Wasco county's prosperous farmers, since he has a large acreage of wheat this year that cannot be excelled. He reports that harvesting has begun on this side of Dufur but no grain will be in condition to cut in the country south of Dufur for about two weeks longer. The farmers in this vicinity are busy at present getting through with their haying.

Several citizens who have recently made trips through the Palouse country have informed the Oaksdale Sun that the orchards have a heavy yield of the finest fruit. Years ago it was thought a waste of time to plant orchards, but the erroneous belief has happily been disproved. So many splendid young orchards are growing up that in the near future this section of the country will, not only as a producer of grain but of fruits as well, be famous.

We understand that it will be necessary for the city council to again take action in regard to the gambling device known as the nickel-in-the-slot machine. A party with a number of them struck town Tuesday and is giving the authorities trouble in order to keep him from setting them up and operating them in this city. In all probability the imposing of a license so high that they cannot afford to run them will be the ultimate end of the matter.

In spite of the abundant room for storage which the Wasco Warehouse has it is filled almost to overflowing. The causes for such a state of affairs is because of the popularity of this company with the woolmen as well as the deadlock existing between the wool buyers and the producers. In other years at this time numerous wool sales would have been made and thousands of pounds would have been shipped to eastern markets. This year, however, the producers are extremely anxious to hold their wool for higher prices, which causes the lack of storage room in the warehouses.

The party of twenty-six Mazamas who started from Portland, July 14th, for Mount St. Helens, were deserted by their packer last Sunday and left on foot in the mountains a long way from home, and some distance from the mountains they were bound to. As they are all accustomed to camping out and able to take care of themselves, there need be no apprehension of their meeting with the unhappy fate of the babes in the woods. The packer stated that he had disagreed with the excursionists and had left them and their outfit about a mile and a half from the lake, at the base of the mountain.

Tuesday was field day at the Chautauque, Gladstone Park. An estimate places the attendance at about 2000. The events were 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 220-yard hurdle, running high jump and pole vault. A good many contestants entered in each event, and the prizes were hotly fought for. Besides the Y. M. C. A., under whose auspices the meet was given, the following organizations were represented: The M. A. A. C., the Pacific college, the Oregon agricultural college, the Chemawa Indian school and the Salinas high school, of California. Although the latter only had one man on the field, it carried off two medals.

There will be two Moodys in the next house of representatives—Moody of Massachusetts, and Moody of Oregon, says the Oregonian. The Massachusetts

Moody is one of the level-headed and brainy men of the present house. He is an able lawyer, and won distinction first in the Lizzie Borden trial. When he came to the house he took a ranking position, even as a new member, succeeding an old and highly respected member, General Cogswell. He said to the Oregonian correspondent, after it was known that Malcolm A. Moody was to represent the second district of Oregon, that he supposed the Oregon Moody was a relative of his, although he had not traced the connection. He thinks that a family of Moodys came over two centuries ago, and that they are scattered in different parts of the United States. Just what relationship he has to his brother representative he does not know.

The Ladies Surprise Mrs. Biggs.

Mrs. W. H. Biggs, who has been president of the Good Intent Society for the past three years, was greatly surprised yesterday afternoon when about a dozen of the members of that society walked into her parlors with the evident intent to spend the afternoon. Being heartily welcomed, the hours were passed in such a manner, as only those who are banded together in such noble work can enjoy.

Mr. and Mrs. Biggs expect soon to leave for the East, and although they will probably return, may not make this city their home. Wishing to show their appreciation of her efficient work in the society and their affection for her, whom it would be impossible to be associated with and not become attached to, the ladies presented her with a silver pie-knife as a token of that regard.

Late in the afternoon refreshments were brought in, this diversion being not least because last.
